DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-17, drawn to a method for operating a switching node of a communication network, classified in class 370, subclass 392.
 - II. Claims 19 and 20, drawn to a node that combines MSC/VLR and MSC-Server in communication network, classified in class 455, subclass 560.
 - III. Claim 22, drawn to a communication system, classified in class 709, subclass 223.
 - IV. Claims 25-41, drawn to a computer program product within a computer usable medium that performs communication instructions in a communication network, classified in class 713, subclass 400.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions Group I and Groups II or III are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either:

(1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus or by hand, or

(2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the method may be used as a router in a network enterprise.

Inventions Group IV and Group I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that:

- (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and
- (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because no switching node is required . The subcombination has separate utility such as processing a point of sale transaction.

Inventions Group III and Group II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that:

- (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and
- (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because no interfaces are required. The subcombination has separate utility such as processing a location determination.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

2. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species: Figs. 1 thru 5. The species are independent or distinct because Applicant identifies each as separate embodiments.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claim is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species.

MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
